

The Five Thoughts

We must think deeply of the ways and means by which this food has come;

We must consider our merit when accepting it;

We must protect ourselves from error by excluding greed from our minds;

We will eat lest we become lean and die;

We accept this food so that we may become enlightened.

From the Zen Mealtime Ceremony

© Shasta Abbey Press